Music Xray Provides Instant Access to Top Music Industry Professionals & Real Opportunities

Music Xray is 21st Century A&R; the Rolls Royce of professional talent and music discovery.

Because those who source talent and music trust Music Xray to make it easy and effective, we're able to give artists & songwriters direct and instant access to hundreds of music industry professionals and thousands of top opportunities.

There is simply no faster, less expensive way to be guaranteed your music will be listened to and considered for so many potential deals.

Many of the professionals who use Music Xray to source talent and songs also provide helpful feedback.

The Problem: Getting heard isn't easy

The good news: There will always be commercial opportunities for recorded music. From label deals to license deals there will always be decision makers in charge of determining which songs and acts are chosen.

The reality: There are currently over 13 million new music artists online, each creating and posting multiple songs each year.

1. The industry can't efficiently screen that much music.
2. Many won't even accept unsolicited material, making it a game of "who you know".
3. Worthy artists and songs can't rise above the noise.

The Solution: Music Xray guarantees you get heard

Music Xray is the world's only 21st century A&R platform. It's where 700+ music industry professionals receive song submissions directly from songwriters & acts and consider them for a multitude of exposure and licensing opportunities.

The platform is used by major & indie labels, Grammy-winning producers, radio stations, bloggers, license agencies, music supervisors and more...

Key Feature: Guaranteed Response Time

Many industry professionals log in and listen every day. Some do it multiple times per day. However, it can still take a number of days before your submission is handled.

If songs remain in the professional's queue for 30 days, we begin letting them know they need to pick up the pace in order to maintain site integrity. In most cases, by day 45 we let the professional know their account will be closed if they do not handle their submissions within 48 hours. Music Xray handles refunds on a case by case basis – always first doing everything we can to get you the response and attention you requested.

Key Feature: Guaranteed Opportunity Authenticity

Music Xray vets every industry professional and every opportunity. We do our best to insure the person receiving submissions is who they say they are and that their opportunities are real.

If one should slip through our verification process, we enable intense community policing and follow up any concerns or complaints that arise from the site's users.

Key Feature: Automatic song to opportunity matching

Music Xray uses some of the most advanced music analysis software to enable industry professionals to upload “seed songs” (songs that sound and feel like the music they'd like to receive as submissions).

Artists can upload all their songs to Music Xray's database and our system will automatically alert you each and every time an industry professional is specifically seeking songs like yours.

It's free to put your music in our database and our automatic alerts are free too!

Key Feature: Import your music

While you can certainly upload your music yourself, Music Xray makes it easy. Just tell us where your music is posted on any of the supported sites (including your own band website) and we'll go fetch it for you. And just as stated above, we'll match it to opportunities for free.

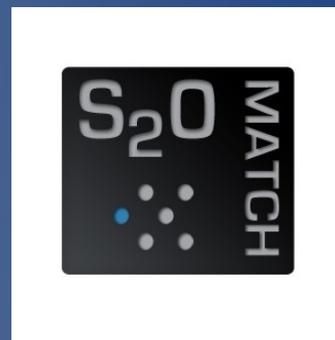

Just to be clear...

Not having your music on Music Xray puts you at a disadvantage.

Key Feature: Put your best foot forward

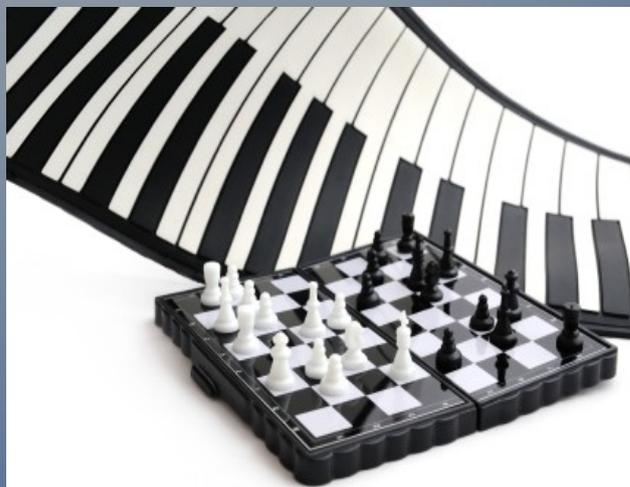

Send more than just an audio file. Give them the whole picture.

Music Xray enables you to send your songs in sleek song presentation packs called a Music Xray (see left) which includes all the meta data, lyrics, songwriter notes, artist bio, a video clip, artist contact info, an image and killer statistics (see right) via our partnership with Next Big Sound.

Result: You put your best foot forward and industry professionals don't have to hunt for all the relevant information.

Key Feature: Easy interaction with industry professionals

Easily keep track of who you submitted to and when.

Their replies and feedback are sent to you via email but are also permanently stored in your account.

You are alerted each time an industry professional listens to the song you submitted. No more wondering if it ever got there.

Industry professionals can easily provide feedback (some even guarantee it) and engage you in conversation.

Key Feature: Rate the professionals & leave comments for all to see

Swift Reply

A swift reply on both submissions was very much appreciated. A constructive criticism on the one which was not really what they were looking for but I feel they could have been more specific about what they were looking for. A very positive thumbs up on the other, which was what they were looking for, so good luck with the pitch. I have a couple more in this genre more suitable for a male solo not a duet, so get back to me if interested. All in all, good job, professional, responsive. Look forward to hearing from you again.

Music Xray is a transparent platform and that keeps everyone professional.

Alex is incredibly responsive and helpful!

After years of sending music to the big abyss where you pay tons of dough and your songs disappear with no response or feedback, Alex was a nice surprise. He emailed right away and was very forthcoming with the people he was pitching to and his suggestions for me. He's great and I really appreciate his help. I'm definitely telling my songwriter friends about Alex and Music Xray. THANKS ALEX!

Jeff Blue is a multi-platinum music producer, A&R exec, songwriter, musician, and attorney who is currently A&R consultant for Atlantic Records (Warner). He is responsible for discovering, signing, co-writing, producing such acts as Linkin Park, Macy Gray, Limp Bizkit, Korn, Hoobastank, Daniel Powter, The Last Goodnight and Better Than Ezra. Jeff guarantees he will listen to and consider every submission.

Understanding submission fees

To begin with, let's be clear about one thing. On Music Xray, your deals are your deals. Music Xray doesn't get involved, doesn't take a cut of any deal you make and doesn't take kickbacks from MIPs when they sign you or license your song. Read the fine print when using other sites. You may be surprised.

The submission fees on Music Xray are meant to help industry professionals deal with some of the costs involved in screening large quantities of music. Some of them also serve simply to insure people don't submit frivolously. Some people submit every song they own to every opportunity and that unfortunately ruins it for everyone.

The submission fees are not meant to be a primary source of revenue for any of the professionals who use the site to post opportunities. Exceptions are made for those providing song critiques and career coaching services. Understandably, these professionals should be compensated fairly for their time and expertise.

Nevertheless, we are mindful that the term "starving artist" didn't coin itself. We know you need to conduct your business in the most economic way feasible, getting as much for every dollar spent as possible. That's why we make sure Music Xray saves you money.

Many bands and songwriters spend years of their lives and thousands of dollars trying to generate the necessary buzz around themselves to attract the attention of many of the people we make available at the click of a mouse and for a fraction of the cost. Most of the fees on Music Xray are lower than the cost of sending a physical press kit through the mail and never knowing if it were opened.
